Why ukactive are engaging with the Higher Education Sector

1. The Higher Education sector has a population of just under 3 million students and staff across 280 sites in the UK – great opportunity to promote physical activity to a large target group.

2. Sport England identified the age group of 16-24 year olds as a key demographic to increase participation in physical activity and sport, as a recent survey revealed that only 59.4% of 16-24 years take part in sport/physical activity for at least 30 minutes each week. Furthermore this percentage has not seen a significant increase in the last 7 years.

3. BUCS have also indicated that they are looking at ways to increase participation in physical activity.
The ukactive HE Steering Group

ukactive, with the support of board member Neil Mosley set up a focus group to explore our options
The ukactive HE Steering Group has developed a programme which aims to engage students not taking part in competitive HE sport in individual and non-traditional activities to promote long term physical activity participation.
One Big Thing

The programme will comprise the following:

• One – off Physical Activity Event
• A Resource Pack
• One Big Thing Website
• Social Media Campaign
• Insight Survey
• Fundraising

One Big Thing is being piloted this Friday!
We don’t have all the answers......yet

• The ukactive HE Steering Group has developed a great concept to promote physical activity among Higher Education students.
• However, we need your guidance to ensure we have the right model in place to grow physical activity within this area
• What is the ideal campaign?!
“I am delighted to support ukactive as it launches its plans to help embed physical activity into the DNA of our communities by getting more people, more active, more often.”
